

Week 10 PSHE

This week, some children are coming back to school whilst others of you are staying at home. I have added a list of activities revolving around PSHE and transition to high school that we will be working on in school over the next three weeks, so that even if you are not returning to school you still have an opportunity to think about moving on to high school.

Activities:

- Your best memories of Ash Grove
- A letter to your new form tutor at high school telling them about yourself
- A dream jar to show what you hope to achieve in your first year at high school
- Questions about high school that you would like to know the answer to
- Who is your hero? Research someone who inspires you to be better. How could you be more like them? What makes them your hero? What is inspiring about them?
