Science Week

This week is British Science Week. The theme for this year is Our Diverse Planet. Throughout the week, the children will be taking part in a wide range of activities to explore the wonderful diversity of planet Earth, from DNA and genetics to climate, habitats and camouflage. Please do ask your children about their science learning this week.

Advice on Handwashing for Children

Last week the children listened to an assembly on the importance of handwashing at this time. We have also scheduled a couple of additional handwashing activities during the school day. As you would expect, we are following all of advice issued by the Department of Education. If you would like to talk about handwashing at home, we have found this a useful link.
